***Trigger warning: suicide, zombies*** In case you like old school games with 8bit/16bit design and like black humour: try this business simulation. with zombies. Build up a firm that sells deathly jumps from the top of your company building to suicidal customers. Research and build facilities to improve the dark mood and death wish of your clients, run ads and defend against the arriving waves of the undead before they kill your paying customers for free. The game supports Chinese and English language settings. It's originally written in Chinese. The English translation might be called "Engrish"-like. Which is not really a drawback - I'd say the translation is not too bad and understandable enough, maybe even adding a bit of extra fun..
